

Can I ask questions to improve understanding of a text?

Use Ada's question words and the pictures. What are the questions that she is asking about? How would you word the questions? What would you like to find out? What is Ada trying to find out? Ada has started asking the questions, please complete as many of them as you can using all of the question words (why, what, how, when, who) and the starters (e.g. What is it for?) across the three pages of the book to help you write your questions. What could it be in Ada's questions? Rewrite the questions replacing it with more detail.
