

Wearable Technology

Wearable technology is technology that can be worn. Examples of this are watches that can tell you how many steps you have taken, what your heart rate is and how far you have walked. Can you think of any other examples of wearable technology?

Turn these items of clothing into wearable technology.

Design a piece of wearable technology and explain its purpose. What does it do? Who would wear it?