The Human Life Cycle

If an independent adult wishes to conceive a child, a male sperm must meet a female egg.

Changing
from a child
to an adult and becoming completely independent
from caregivers.

Main period
of growth
and developing independence from
parent or guardian.

After 9 months
in the womb,
the baby is born.
Babies are still highly dependent on their parent
or guardian.

Embryo growing inside a woman, where it is reliant on her for growth and nutrients.
